ARTA members can remain active in educational and leadership roles in a professional organization:

ARTA members are represented at meetings where retiree benefits are determined:

ARTA members enjoy members-only discounts and programs:

ARTA members can be as active and involved as they choose. Some enjoy taking on a leadership role at the local, area or state level as a board or committee member. Others are content to be counted among the ARTA membership, which is part of our success—there is strength in numbers.

ARTA members are provided with a variety of resources to help them advocate for secure and improved benefits for all current and future retired public school employees.

ARTA members are invited to participate in our annual convention, held in the fall of each year.

ARTA membership is open to participants in the Arkansas Teacher Retirement System and to others who support a stable, secure retirement for Arkansas's retired public school employees.

The ARTA director or a representative regularly attends meetings where retiree pension plans and health benefits are discussed:

- ATRS Board of Trustees;
- Joint Legislative Committee on Public Retirement and Social Security Programs;
- Employee Benefits Division (health insurance);
- other meetings where topics affecting the welfare of retirees are discussed.

ARTA also maintains an active legislative committee of members that:

- reviews relevant legislation and policies to determine its effects on retirees;
- sets it's own legislative priorities;
- works continually to educate elected officials and others about issues of concern;
- mobilizes its network of more than 12,500 members to contact elected officials if necessary to protect pensions and other benefits.

- Membership in Arkansas's fourth-largest professional trade association* with a physical presence and a staff to coordinate activities;
- Custom-designed travel with other retirees to safe, interesting destinations at competitive prices;
- Consultations and group discounts on select health insurance products:
 - a. Long Term Care Insurance
 - b. Cancer/Heart/Stroke Coverage
 - c. Dental & Vision Insurance
 - d. Supplemental Medicare Products
- Complimentary subscription to our quarterly newsletter, the INTERLINK;
- Invitations and notifications about other events or topics of interest.
